

JIB Cabling and Jointing Register

Membership of the JIB Cabling and Jointing Register presents a new potential source of work as JIB member companies can only subcontract cabling and jointing work to companies on the Register

New potential sources of work

No cost for JIB member companies

Membership of the Register is free for JIB member companies. Companies on the Register are also listed on the Register in the JIB Handbook and on the website free of charge getting your company known wider within the sector.

Allows new marketing opportunities as companies on the Register are the only JIB member companies currently invited to advertise on the JIB website and in the Handbook. Register Companies also receive specialist marketing support and use of the JIB logo.

New Marketing Opportunities

Policies, Procedures & Insurances

Shows the company have proper policies in place for H&S, disciplinary and grievances, as well as insurances such as public and employers' liability insurance to set minimum levels of cover

Demonstrates the quality of your staff to clients and that individuals are registered with ECS, and can hold grades as Cabling and/or Jointing Operatives. This includes facilities for real-time checking of your operatives by clients through ECS Check (where required)

Demonstrates quality of staff

The Cabling and Jointing Committee, as elected representatives from companies on the Register, work with these JIB companies to address subjects of concern, improve training and further relations in the sector. The Register gives companies a say in the way the industry is shaped. To find out more contact Andy Reakes, the Secretary to the Committee, at a.reakes@jib.org.uk or 01322 661 610.
